Calls For 1½ Billion Arms Aid

Help Europe, Truman Urges

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman called on Congress today to approve swiftly a $1,450,000,000 foreign arms program. He said it is needed because friendly nations in western Europe and elsewhere need to build up their defenses against the danger of Russian aggression.

The chief executive, evidently hoping to counter the demands of some senators to trim down the cost of the proposal, said his recommendation covers only "the most pressing current needs for military aid."

This aid, he said, would go mainly to eight European nations and to about half a dozen others scattered all the way from Europe to the Pacific ocean.

"If this program of military aid is to succeed," Mr. Truman said in a special message to the lawmakers, " we must prosecute it promptly and vigorously. Our policies for peace are having the desired effect. We cannot afford to lose the momentum we have already gained."

At another point, the president declared that the projected program would be "like the North Atlantic Treaty . . . Entirely defensive in character."

RUSSIA BLASTED

At the same instant Mr. Truman's message was being read in Congress, the state department made public the text of an administration bill to carry out the arms program. This bill would give the chief executive great flexibility in distributing arms to other countries but would bar giving away any atomic bombs.

In an accompanying booklet, the state department blasted Russia with even blunter words than those Mr. Truman used. The booklet said:

"The political aggression and expansionist aims of the soviet union, abetted by the malignant growth of international communism, have bred a new fear and insecurity in the world."

The president said the people of Europe particularly have watched the communists take ov-

Big Bootleg Spot Raided

CINCINNATI — (INS) — State liquor agent Frank Acton raided what he called "the largest bootleg place" in the seven counties around Cincinnati early Sunday and cited a woman he said was business agent for a Miami university sorority.

Acton said his men confiscated whisky, rum, beer, wine, three slot machines and other gambling equipment at the Wade Mill lodge near Venice in Butler county.

He cited Miss Lena Morrical and Frank C. Hughes, both of Oxford, for selling and possessing liquor and operating without a permit. Acton said Miss Morrical, business manager of the Phi Delta Tau sorority at Oxford, was the owner, and Hughes was the manager, of the place which had been under investigation two months. They were released on $1,500 bond each.

A few hours later, Hamilton county police raided a public beach in Whitewater and a restaurant in North Bend and found seven slot machines.

This Brew Should Have Quite a Sock

CLEVELAND —(AP)— A 50-gallon still discovered here yesterday by police gave up this brew mixture:

Grain mash, garbage, potatoe peelings, coffee grains and several pairs of old socks

Two men, one of whom told police he was a minister of the gospel, were held for investigation.

DOWNTOWN BLAZE—The rising sun and the smoke from the fire at Fourth and Main streets this morning formed weird patterns on East Fourth street buildings. At left firemen direct four streams of water on the blaze that gutted the upper floors of the Sutter Candy company and Isaly store buildings. The ladder truck enabled firefighters to battle the flames from the roof level of the building. The picture at right shows the fire at its peak and firemen working to bring it under control. The flames were discovered about 5 a. m. and the fire was out less than two hours later. (News-Journal Photos by James Switzer).

Flames Hit Downtown Stores, Offices

By MARGUERITE MILLER

Mansfield's most destructive business district fire in five years gutted the Weldon building at the southeast corier of Fourth and Main streets early today, causing an estimated $100,000 damage to 15 businesses and offices in the 75-year-old structure. No one was injured.

A general fire alarm was turned in at 5:03 a. m. by Police Lt. Roeliff Hout, who discovered smoke pouring from a third-floor window in the center of the building. Fire Chief L. J. Steele said he believed the fire started in the rear of the Hobby Shop.

The building houses the Sutter Candy company, Main Street Isaly store, and 13 other business and professional establishments.

William M. Weldon jr., 575 Woodhill road, owner of the building, said he believed $50,000 would cover damage to the building. Weldon added that plans for restoring the building already are under way.

The fire destroyed most of the roof on the building, facing on Main street, and gutted a large section of the third and second floors. Firemen said only a sturdy fire wall between the Weldon building and the structure housing the Madison store saved the merchandise in the dress shop.

Heaviest damage was at the E. W. Sutter Candy company and confectionery, which occupied three floors on the north side of the building. Sutter estimated his loss in stock and equipment at $30,000.

An Isaly store located in the building just south of Sutter's confectionery was damaged by smoke and water to the extent of $5,000, according to Ruhland D. Isaly, manager of the Isaly stores in Mansfield and vicinity.

Both the Sutter's store and the Isaly store had been newly redecorated.

Only known occupants of the building at the time the fire broke out were Mr. and Mrs. John Glowa, janitors for the Sutter confectionery. Glowa said he heard some noises that sounded like boxes falling on the second floor. He said he noticed no smoke and went on cleaning. Glowa and his wife were routed from the building by firemen.

COINS LOST

Included in the loss was $6,000 in rare and foreign stamps and coins, owned by James R. Conner who operated his coin and stamp shop in the Hobby Center on the second floor of the building.

Other damage included: $1,000 each at the offices of Dr. B. W. Stern, dentist, and Dr. O. J. Marcus, chiropodist; and an unestimated amount of water damage to shops and offices in the east wing of the building, facing on East Fourth street.

Flames ate through into the hallway, separating the Mardell beauty shop from the Sutter candy store, but were confined to one room of the east wing.

Ceilings and walls spouted water in McQuade real estate office, Lightfoot's barber service, the Idle Hour Cigar store, the John Kutschall shoe repair shop and the Burns pet shop.

Others who have offices in the building are P. E. Wilhelm, H. G. Clark and B. E. Knapp. No damage was reported in these offices.

The fire was the largest in dollar damage since the Quality Furniture company blaze in the winter of 1944.

Firemen brought the blaze under control by 7 a. m. and by 9 a. m. the 1,400 feet of hose used on the blaze was rolled up.

About 500,000 gallons of water was pumped into the fire during the four-hour period, according to estimate by City Sanitary Engineer B. V. BeVier.

New Storm Threatens

Child Dead, Airmen Injured In Typhoon

TOKYO —(INS)— Battered Okinawa was threatened today with a possible new windstorm in the wake of a devastating typhoon and torrential rains that killed at least one person—an American child—and injured an unknown number of others.

Damage was expected to run high.

After cutting a wide swath of destruction Saturday across the big island, 300 miles south of Japan, the typhoon — named "Gloria" by U. S. meteorologists —whirled westward and struck the China coast of Shanghai last night.

To the east-southeast meantime another storm — called "Hester" — raged in the Pacific about 150 miles northwest of Guam.

U. S. air force reconnaissance planes flew out from Guam and scouted "Hester" but reported back by radio they were unable to find the core of the second windstorm. The scouting operations were continuing.

Saturday's typhoon, which developed winds up to 175 miles per hour and brought a downpour of 3.85 inches of rain, struck down people, houses and military installations on Okinawa, one of America's major bases in the western Pacific.

Killed was the seven-year-old daughter of a U. S air force officer. She lost her life when a quonset hut in which she and her family lived was blown down. Two other children in the same family were critically injured.

Among other casualties were nine American airmen who were slightly injured.

Army and air force messages to Tokyo made no specific estimates of destruction or damage to grounded American planes and installations, but described the damage as "heavy."

Truck Hits Police Car

Edward Hall, 31, of 228 North Franklin avenue, today found it is costly to side swipe a police cruiser.

A truck driven by Hall rammed the standing cruiser on Temple court just off North Adams street about 2:30 a. m., Sunday.

He was promptly charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol and failure to have a driver's license. He pleaded guilty in municipal court and was fined $80 and costs today. His right to drive was suspended for six months.

The 1947 model police cruiser was not seriously damaged The left front fender was struck by the farm truck Hall was driving.

Murderer Must Die

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Governor Lausche today refused to intervene in the scheduled electrocution tonight of Mahlon Wisecup, 49-year-old Hillsboro murderer. Wisecup was sentenced to the electric chair for the slaying last Jan 2 of his 72-year-old stepfather, Grant Nichols

Rips Rent Controls

Judge Says Law Unconstitutional

CHICAGO — A federal district judge today held the 1949 rent control act unconstitutional.

The opinion was handed down by Judge Elwyn R. Shaw. He declared the entire act was invalidated by a clause permitting states and other divisions to end it in their territories by local option.

Judge Shaw held this provision was an unlawful delegation by congress of its powers to other government agencies.

He issued his ruling in a suit by the Housing Expediter, Tighe E. Woods, against the Shoreline apartments, Chicago, whose owners attempted to evict tenants who refused to join a cooperative.

The local option section lets states pass their own rent laws as substitutes for the federal act, and thus to provide for decontrol.

Britain Faces More Strikes

LONDON —(UP)— More than 15,000 dockers, stevedores and tugmen went back to work on the London docks today after a 26-day strike. But threatened railway and mine strikes gave the government new labor troubles.

The powerful national union of Railwaymen threatened a slowdown strike on Britain's nationalized railways. A specialists union whose members operate most of Britain's mine lifts and pumps served notice for a strike Aug 15 unless wage demands are met.

Some 14,000 troops were ready today to move back to the docks instantly if any hitch developed

Replies To Archbishop

Mrs. FDR Denies Anti-Catholicism

NEW YORK —(UP)— Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt flatly denied Francis Cardinal Spellman's charges of anti-Catholicism today. She cited her support of the late Alfred E. Smith, a Roman Catholic, in his political campaigns as proof.

"I have no ill feeling toward any religion," she said, "or toward any people of high or low estate because they belong to any religious group."

The Archbishop of New York in a letter to Mrs. Roosevelt, released to the press last Thursday, accused the widow of the late President of anti-Catholicism in taking a stand against federal aid to private schools, including parochoal school.

Mrs. Roosevelt reiterated her stand that she believed in complete freedom of religion in the United States, but at the same time believed in complete separation of church and state.

"My record," Mrs. Roosevelt said, "is that of support of Alfred E. Smith, a Roman Catholic governor of this state, in every campaign that he made. I spoke from many platforms for him, and I ran the women's work for him when he was candidate for president of the United States.

The controversy between Mrs. Roosevelt and the Cardinal was a subject for discussion yesterday in pulpits in New York and Washington

Msgr. John K. Cartwright of St. Matthew's Cathedral in Washington accused Mrs. Roosevelt of displaying Catholic prejudice by "sly insinuation, by mean reservation and by every slick device."

However, in New York, the protestant pastor of New York's liberal interdenominational Riverside church, Dr. Robert J McCracken, defended Mrs. Roosevelt.

"Mrs. Roosevelt is not universally popular in this country," Dr McCracken said in his Sunday sermon," and the Cardinal knows it. "But having read her articles on the Barden bill, which seem to me to have been written with moderation and in a spirit of tolerance, it is disappointing to find the Cardinal accusing her of anti-Catholicism and prejudice and intimating that with his accusation the controversy is closed."

Chin Cut In Jet Crash

SANDUSKY — (INS) — Second Lt. R. H Glenn of Osceola, Ia , has a small cut on his chin today — the only injury suffered in a crash landing of an F-80 jet fighter plane before 8,000 spectators.

The 23 - year - old pilot brought his plane down in a soy bean field a few miles east of Hinde-Dietrich airpot yesterday afternoon after two wing - tip tanks collapsed and folded back over the wings.

Glenn was traveling about 450 miles an hour when the tanks collapsed as he was pulling the plane out of a dive. He managed to get the fighter craft up to 500 feet, too low for him to jump yet high enough to permit him to select his landing site.

Coming down with his wheels up, Glenn knocked off the fuel tanks and ploughed up more than 100 feet of the field before coming to rest, the engines still running.

The engines of the plane kept running for two hours after the crash landing, but Glenn asked firemen not to put water on the plane unless it caught fire. He said his best dress-up clothes were in the ship.

Starts Job Survey

BOSTON —(UP)— Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer opens a nationwide survey of unemployment here today in an effort to determine what steps the federal government can take to stimulate business and provide more jobs.

Black Cat Escapes Fire, Finds Basement Refuge

A black cat, faithful "mouser" for the Sutter confectionery store, for the past five years, narrowly escaped with her nine lives early today in the fire which gutted the Weldon building at Fourth and Main streets.

The half-drowned pussy was pulled from a perch on a basement counter almost two hours after the fire was discovered. Hero of the rescue was 16-year-old Jim Sgambellone, 280 First avenue, who waded through more than three feet of water in the basement to find the pet The youth is an employe of Sutter's

E. W Sutter, owner of the confectionery and candy store, which was heavily damaged in the blaze, said he didn't think the cat's color had anything to do with the fire.

"At least we saved our cat," he mused.

Five doors away, a dozen little canaries cheeped and fluttered excitedly in their cages in the Burns Pet Shop, last shop in the building and next to an alley. A streak of water on the west wall in the shop was the only damage there.

All along the intersection, some 500 persons—mostly downtown apartment dwellers who had been shaken from their beds by the screaming fire sirens—watched as flames gutted one of the city's oldest business sites.

Former Service-Safety Directors Emmett Morgan and William Enlow joined the present director, Earl Garrison, at the scene. The former city employes, who still rarely miss an emergency in the city, were busy with their cameras.

While firemen moved like a well-geared machine under Chief L. J. Steele's direction, a half bushel basket of sandwiches and a steaming pot of coffee were carried to them by Lt. Maj. R. L. Gutterman of the Volunteers of America who never misses a fire.

The maze of hose, laced in and out across the intersection was protected from traffic by police who blockaded the area one block away in every direction.

Spectators who ventured too close to the blazing building were promptly discouraged when a high pressure fire hose flipped out of a fireman's hand and sprayed the crowd.

Many in the crowd remarked about the need for another aerial ladder for the city's fire department.

Proprietors of shops in the east wing of the building hurried in front doors and emerged seconds later with money bags. Several of the anxious ones were greeted by an onrush of water when they opened the front doors

A miniature waterfall gushed out of the stairway between the Sutter and Isaly stores as thousands of gallons of water were poured into the blazing second floor.

Asks Curb On Monopoly

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Sen. Robertson (D) Va., today assailed the three-day work week in soft coal mines as a "bold, overt act" by John L. Lewis to control coal production and prices to the detriment of consumers.

He suggested a need for application of the nation's anti-trust laws to unions to curb "labor monopolies."

DOPE STOLEN

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Burglars stole a quantity of cocaine and morphine from University hospital early today, police reported.

Wainwright Rips Pact As 'War Bid'

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, hero of Bataan, sees the Atlantic pact as an "invitation to another war."

The tall, retired officer told an interviewer yesterday that he found little good for the United States in the agreement and felt that in the event of war, this country would "face it almost alone."

"Possibly some help from England" might come, he added.

Humidity Count Brings Mansfield Discomfort

City's Blanket of Heat To Remain

Mansfielders who sweltered in near 90-degree heat over the week end, are in for more of the same tonight and tomorrow. The weatherman predicted that tomorrow will be even hotter.

The high recorded here yesterday was 89 degrees. If it will make you feel any better it was 96 degrees in Chillicothe yesterday.

That heat is not all that is bothering Mansfielders The humidity count will exceed 110 grains per pound of dry air, 10 above the discomfort zone, the weatherman said.

The heat wave blankets the nation from the Atlantic to the Rockies and only in the far northwest are temperatures moderate.

No relief is seen from the new heat wave before Wednesday night at the earliest, the weatherman pointed out, adding that even that was not definite.

Mansfielders, trying to escape from the heat over the week end, travelled to lakes to find cool picnic spots and places to swim. The city's parks and area swimming facilities were crowded as were the main highways around Mansfield throughout the day.

Yesterday's high recorded by the Civil Aeronautics administration at Municipal airport was 89 degrees at 4 40 p. m. The low today was 72 at 5:10 a. m. By noon today the temperature had climbed back to 83 degrees.

Cries Out Against Modern Life With Its Built-In Equipment

NEW YORK — This is the built-in age.

Nobody any longer wants anything unless it is also guaranteed to have at least a couple of other features built into it.

This goes for practically everything from brassieres to bookcases, from three-color ice cream to cigaret boxes that play "Yankee Doodle" when opened. If it doesn't have the built-in something extra, it's strictly "twenty-three skiddoo." Even the pigeons turn up their beaks at popcorn today unless it contains three kinds of built-in vitamins.

Think I'm kidding? Well, over in Glasgow they've just developed a blouse with built-in perfume. Makes a girl smell sweet in any flavor she wants for months and months.

But this international craze to build something into something else probably has reached its true flower in the motor car and household gadget industries.

An automobile used to be a vehicle to get you from here to there. But now cars are gradually taking the place of the old-fashioned home. You can shave in them, listen to a concert, smoke, carry on a long distance telephone conversation with Paris, or push a button and slice your mother-in-law in half with an automatic sliding window. About the only thing you can't do in them is play a tuba.

Take what happened to the simple broom. It used to be a straight-forward instrument for gathering dust out of odd corners. Then they turned it into a carpet sweeper. Then it developed into the vacuum cleaner. And what won't it do now? It'll paint walls, wax floors, dry the baby, manicure the furniture and shampoo your rug or your dog or your wife.

In another year it'll serve meals, fight peddlers, attack poisonous snakes, and play you gin rummy for keeps.

Furniture has become so complicated by built-in gadgets that you can't even tell its function from an outside look. Soon we'll have to hang an index on each piece to know all it is capable of. You'll have to approach it by radar.

As it is now I always have a moment of fear when a host asks me to pull open the door of a new cabinet in his living room. I never know whether the thing will dump a sack of laundry on the floor, flip out an X-ray picture of my lungs, spray me with martinis, roll out into a sofa bed or just show another television wrestling match from Chicago.

Yes, it's all confused. Try to dial a telephone and somebody complains you're turning off the air-conditioning unit. Are we living at peace in a built-in war, or dwelling at war in a built-in peace? Call a social engineer. The planet's a-wry.

The corner saloon no longer offers any escape. I met a friend emerging from one the other day, and he said with a dazed look:

"What a new slot machine they got in there! I put in a nickel. And what happened; why the darn thing rang up a 10,000,000 score, shot off three roman candles, weighed me, shined my shoes, told my fortune, played a Bing Crosby record—and reached into my pocket for another nickel.

"Don't go in there, pal. I barely got out alive. If I'd put in a quarter, the thing would probably have married me, moved into my apartment and set up housekeeping."

There is only one way to end the built-in age. That's to develop a race with some built-in common sense. Who really wants a fountain pen that will write letters, brush his teeth, take his passport photo and—for fifty cents extra—has three knife blades and a bottle opener at one end?

'Reformed' Thief Offers Good Advice To Others, Forgets It

There was a man in our town (Chicago) who had done time in several penitentiaries. He was a burglar, but a clumsy clunk. He kept getting caught.

His field of operations was homes in better localities, with dining-rooms downstairs. While the families were enjoying their meals he would climb to the upper chambers and go through the bedrooms. That was called "second-story work"

Charlie usually got the best of it in hearings. He was a pleasant fellow, personable, and never a weeper. Moreover, he wasn't a liar.

The state board would summon him to its rooms in Joliet and he would hold his head aloft, confess his sins, then say:

"Gentlemen, I am at last convinced that the ways of evil are poor business. If ever again I breathe the air of freedom. I shall abjure the temptations of acquisitive and predatory impulse that put me here. I have been teaching my brother convicts and in the classroom I have been preaching honesty. I want to join the Salvation Army, where men like me are welcomed, and I believe I can help my fellow-men."

He got out. And he did join the Salvation Army. He told his tale to the lowly, barrelhouse bums and such, and turned out to be quite a lay preacher.

I caught one of his lectures and reported it. A psychology instructor thought it would be interesting, even enlightening, to have this cum laude graduate, who had won his degree while doing field research, address the young students on the practical applications of theoretical aberrations.

Charlie, who favored four-syllable words to throw at flophouse hobos, talked straight turkey to the advanced delvers into Freud and Lombroso.

"Boys," he said, "I have never met a reformed thief.

"Stealing is the natural way of life. Anyone who doesn't is afraid to. Fear is also a natural way of life. Most of us are more afraid than we are greedy. So most humans remain more or less honest.

"Therefore, I say all the psychological conclusions on criminal behavior are a lot of hooey. They start from the wrong end. Instead of x-raying why we, who steal, do it, they should search into why you, who don't, can keep your dukes off of anything you could swipe.

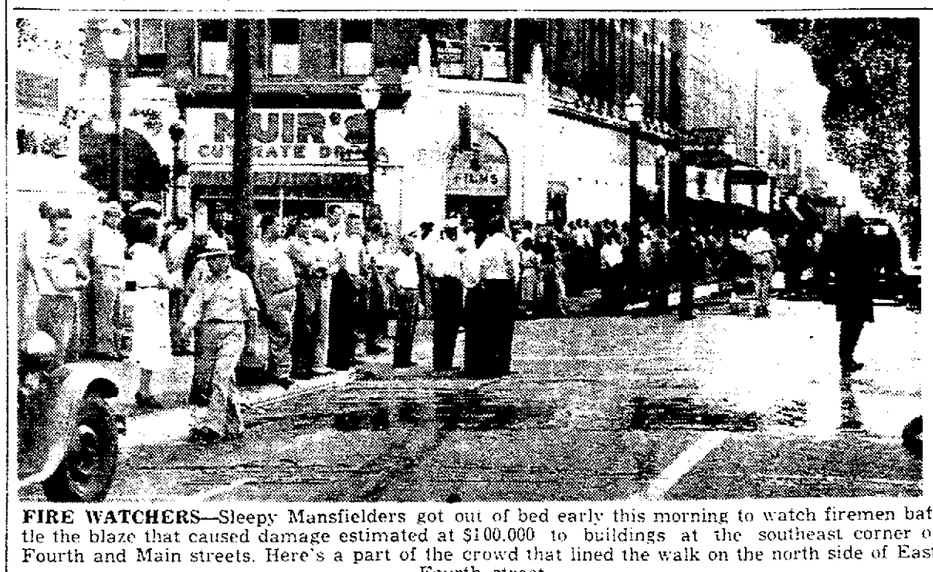
"Mind you, I'm not advising you to steal. It strictly is a bust, socially and financially.

"I only want to tip you off that you're all licked. That may be for the best. But I suggest you take up from there when you study mankind. Find out why men are tame, not why wolves are wild. Man made the first; nature created the second.

"I'm through stealing. The odds are too big. I point that out to the unconvinced. I tell them the reverse of what I'm telling you. I preach that they are freaks, that it isn't natural for a few men to not accept the standards of most men. I plead with them to conform. I wouldn't dare tell them the truth."

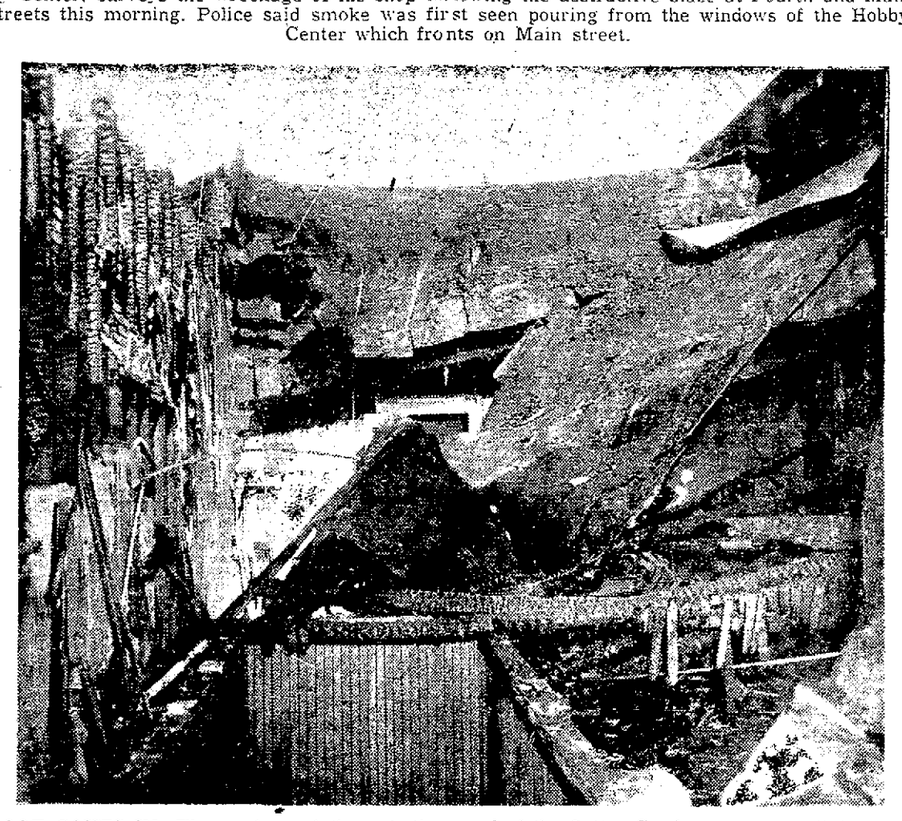
Charlie bowed and left. He crossed the campus. He saw a nice cottage nearby. The lights were high on the main floor. Above, all was darkness. He hesitated, then cased the place. He sneaked up the back stairs.

Twenty minutes later his arms were full of plunder and he was in the arms of a policeman.



FIRE WATCHERS—Sleepy Mansfielders got out of bed early this morning to watch firemen battle the blaze that caused damage estimated at $100,000 to buildings at the southeast corner of Fourth and Main streets. Here's a part of the crowd that lined the walk on the north side of East Fourth street.

SURVEYS DESTRUCTION—James R. Conner, proprietor of a coin and stamp shop at the Hobby Center, surveys the wreckage of his shop following the destructive blaze at Fourth and Main streets this morning. Police said smoke was first seen pouring from the windows of the Hobby Center which fronts on Main street.



ROOF CAVES IN—Flames burned through the roof of the Sutter Candy company building and left this mass of charred timbers and roofing. The third floor of the building was used for storage and a clubroom by the Sutter company. There were no injuries in the blaze which was confined to the upper floors of the buildings at Fourth and Main streets.

ON THE JOB—Lt. Maj. R. L. Gutterman of the Volunteers of America always is on the job at major fires to serve coffee and sandwiches to the firefighters. Here he serves Fireman Frank Kollin.

4-H Club Members Compete

Firms Offer Extra Prizes

County 4-H club members were preparing their exhibits today after receiving notification of the premium list for the Richland County Junior Fair which opens Aug. 18.

The list was released at Saturday night's fair board meeting at the courthouse and includes a schedule of more than a score of special awards.

Other than the regular 4-H Future Farmers of America and vocational agricultural premiums, the list is fattened by the addition of special awards by several county associations and Mansfield business firms.

The Richland Trust company is sponsoring a special 4-H Club Congress award. A minimum of six club members and eligible chaperone will be selected as delegates to the Ohio Club Congress which will be held at Ohio State university Sept. 12 to 16. Record of service in local clubs, average grades, personality and ability as a leader will be considered in selecting members for this award.

A special showmanship award is being sponsored by the Mansfield Savings Trust National bank. A suitable trophy will be presented by the bank to the FFA or 4-H member winning the sheep showmanship contest.

OFFER AWADS

Also sponsoring awards are the Richland County Holstein Breeders' association, the Richland County Gurnsey Breeders' association, the Ohio Brown Swiss Breeders' club, Carl R. Cordy, Allied Mills, Inc., Shelby, the Northern Ohio Breeders' Cooperative association, the Richland County Beekeepers' association, the Ashland, Richland, Wayne County Duroc Breeders' association, and the Mackland farm, Mansfield, R. D. 1.

Other matters discussed at the fair board meeting included the progress of the $6,975 repair program at the fair grounds. The necessity for spraying several of the buildings with whitewash was considered.

A contract bid by Cal's Spray Painting, 1178 West Fourth street, for $450 to whitewash the interior and pens in several buildings was offered to the board, which voted to get other bids from contractors before a decision is made.

The work to be done includes spraying the poultry house, the sheep barn, hog barn and cow shed. The West Fourth street firm offered to use DDT in spraying at a rate of 40 pounds to 100 gallons of water.

The 4-H club advised by Mrs. Harold Tingley, Madison township, received the consent of the fair board to operate a refreshments stand at the grounds during the fair.

Supervisors of the various activities appointed were Earl Huston, hog exhibits; Floyd Mowrey, sheep; Charles Oberlin, cattle; Thomas Sheppard, poultry and rabbits; and Max McFarland, school building exhibits.

Henry S. Hulit, Mifflin township, advised the board that the following companies have offered to exhibit farm machinery at the junior fair; Mortgomery Ward, Myers Farm Supply, G. L. Rogers, Dickerson Brothers and Lantz and son.

Other machinery dealers who wish may exhibit their machinery if they notify Hulit by Aug. 13. The exhibitors will have to furnish their own tents.

County Agent C. N. McGrew announced at the meeting that the 4-H clubs will present a general talent show at the fair on the night of Aug. 18. The 4-H members also will participate in a softball tournament the first day of the fair, McGrew said.

Record Crowds Hear Concerts At Stadium Field, North Lake

Nearly 3,500 Mansfielders moved outdoors for their entertainment last night when record crowds attended the two band concert at Stadium field and North Lake park.

An estimated 2,500 attended the third and final Mansfield summer concert at Stadium field where 40 musicians, under the direction of Dr. Louis Pete of Ashland, presented an hour and a half program of marches and classical selections.

The crowd generously applauded all of the selections from the opening number, "Shenandoah March," by Goldman, to the closing one, the stirring, "Stars and Stripes Forever," by Sousa.

At North Lake park every parking space was occupied and hundreds of Mansfielders gathered the water's edge as Eugene Smart's studio accordion band and orchestra played to an audience of nearly 1,000 persons.

Especially popular with the crowd were selections by vocalists. Elaine Wilkins, of Mt. Vernon; Sandra Byerly; Barbara McCullough, Erlinda Leverett; and eight-year-old Buddy Houston.

The music was amplified throughout the park by a sound system furnished by S-Sgt. George Stupar, of the U. S. Marine recruiting office here.

The summer concerts at Stadium field are jointly sponsored by the City Recreation department and Local 159 American Federation of musicians. The band will present its final concert of the season at the new band shell in Brookside park, Ashland, next Sunday.

The concerts at North Lake park, sponsored by the North Lake park association, will continue each Sunday evening through August.

Tribe Raps Senators In Two Games

NEW YORK—(AP)—Fortified by four straight wins over the Washington Senators, the Cleveland Indians invade Yankee stadium tonight for another showdown series with the front-running New Yorkers.

The Tribe defeated Joe Kuhel's Senators 7 to 5 and 5 to 2 yesterday to run Washington's losing streak to 10 straight.

Early Wynn will toe the rubber for the Indians as they try to cut New York's margin to three lengths in the night tilt. They now trail by four games. Wynn, who dropped a 5-to-3 decision in the finale of the series between the teams in Cleveland last week, has a 7-2 record.

Opposing Wynn will be Lefty Ed Lopat, called "Steady Eddie" by Yankee fans, or Vic Raschi.

Lopat, with a 9-5 record, has split in four decisions with the Tribe this year. Before this season, he had an 18-4 record against Cleveland. Raschi has a 15-3 mark for the season.

The game is the first of fifteen for the Tribe on the new road trip. They play three in New York, five in Boston, three in Washington, and four in Philadelphia.

Pitcher Bob Lemon did not set a record for homers when he crashed two as the Tribe won the opener yesterday, but if he continues at his present pace, he will set a new mark for home runs by a pitcher in one season. He now has six. The record is nine, set by former Cleveland star Wes Ferrell in 1931.

OPPORTUNE HOMER

Lemon's first four-master came at a most opportune time. He hit it with the score 5 to 4 Washington in the seventh inning. The blast, which knotted the score, was followed by an error and Joe Gordon's single, which scored what proved to be the winning run.

Just for good measure, however, the lefthanded swinging Lemon poled another drive into the right field stands for the Tribe's final marker. Sid Hudson was charged with the loss.

Homers by Eddie Robinson, Ed Stewart, and Dale Mitchell produced most of the other runs in the see-saw game.

Robinson opened the scoring with his drive in the fourth to score two Senators before him. After the Tribe picked up a run in the fourth to make the score 3 to 1, Mitchell whacked a three-run homer to give the Tribe the lead.

Stewart's wallop tied the score in the sixth and the Senators picked up another in the seventh to take the lead, 5 to 4 before Lemon showed his muscle.

Al Benton relieved the tired Lemon in the ninth to squelch the Senators who had two on with only one out. Lemon was credited with the win, his twelfth against only four losses.

WINS 7TH GAME

Gene Bearden pitched six-hit ball to post his seventh win in the nightcap. He walked five, but had the game under control at all times. Eddie Yost supplied all of the Nats' runs with a two-run homer in the eighth.

The offensive punch for the Tribe in the nightcap was almost all Mickey Vernon. The lanky first baseman cracked two of Mickey Harris' offerings over the right field fence to drive in four runs and later scored another himself after singling in the fifth.

The homers were No.'s eleven and twelve this year and quadrupled his home output of 1948 when he made only three. He also has surpassed his previous high of nine in the long ball department.

Lexington Club Scrambles Richland County League

The red-hot Lexington Merchants threw the Richland County league race into a scramble yesterday with a 26-9 victory over the Mansfield Hawks in a postponed first-round game.

The loss for the Hawks sent the first half standings into a three-way tie for first place with a fourth club having a chance to sneak in. The Hawks, Lexington and Lucas all have four wins and two losses in the first half. Butler has a 3-2 and a postponed game remaining with T. and E. Tavern.

Yesterday's Lexington-Hawks game was on the schedule as a second round contest but the teams agreed to postpone their second round game and clear up the first half season first.

Lexington banged out 28 hits and scored in every inning but the third and sixth. It got seven runs in the first two frames before the Hawks pulled within two runs at 7-5 after three and one-half innings. From there on it was a rout. Still led Lexington with a home run, double, and three singles in seven times at bat.

After belaboring the Hawks, Lexington jumped on Johnsville for a 7-0 victory in a non-league game. It was its 12th consecutive victory.

In other County league action yesterday, T. and E. Tavern rapped Lucas 13-1 at Lucas and Ontario turned back invading Butler, 7-5.

WINS FIFTH GAME

Ernie Tinkey won his fifth game against one defeat for T. and E. and extended to 29 1-3 innings the stretch during which he has not issued a base on balls.

Tinkey gave up only six hits while his mates collected 15.

The victory put T. and E. in a tie with Lexington for the lead of the second half race. Both have won their only start.

Ontario scored its first second half victory in whipping Butler but had lost its first game last week.

Walcott Meets Olle Tandberg

STOCKHOLM — (UP) — Jersey Joe Walcott, often a challenger but never a champion, said today that big Olle Tandberg of Swden would be the first victim of his new drive for another crack at the world heavyweight title.

"I'll get back into the title picture by beating Tandberg," said the 35-year-old Camden, N. J. boxer as he prepared to begin training for his Aug. 14 bout with the Swedish heavyweight champion.

The aging negro said the Tandberg fight would tune him up to meet the winner of the Bruce Woodcock - Lee Savold scrap for the British version of the world heavyweight championship, which will be held in London on Sept. 6.

Penn Autos Rally For 6-To-4 Victory

Penn auto-Sporting Goods rallied for four runs in its last two times at bat at Blue Goose field yesterday to defeat Akron Krumroy Market, 6-4.

It was the second successive victory for Shelly Swank, the young second baseman-pitcher. Swank gave up 11 hits but did not walk a man and stopped Akron cold after the fifth inning.

Manager Lefty Deeds had announced Jack Hammett as his starting pitcher but made a last-minute switch to Swank. Swank won last Sunday's game with the Shelby Blues with a good relief job.

Akron led by three runs before Penn had its first rally in the bottom of the fourth inning. Tick Hamilton's double, and singles by Bob Finney, Red Hamman and Warren Hammett produced two tallies.

A home run by Stoneking of Akron made the score 4-2 in the top of the fifth but Penn tied it up in the last of the seventh when Wilbur Wade blasted a long home run with Swank on base.

In the eighth Jim Meeting's double, singles by Warren Hammett and Swank and an error by the Akron shortstop gave the Mansfielders their final two runs. It was their 11th victory in 17 starts.

Another game in the city championship series will be played at 5:30 Friday when the Autos meet T. & E. Tavern for the second time. T. & E. won the first game by an upset 8-6 score. Friday's tilt will be played at Blue Goose with the Taverns acting as home team.

Musial Lifts Cardinals Into National Loop Lead

Yanks Take Single Game From Detroit

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer.

If you value your life don't dare mention to a Brooklyn rooter that Stan Musial is having an off year.

Should you be lucky enough to be conscious when he gets through with you, he'll painstakingly prove that the only reason the St. Louis Cardinals are in first place today is that they own title to Stan (the man) Musial.

You may argue that Musial, hitting only .299, is far below his normal batting gait. The Brooklyn fan will counter with a blow-by-blow description of Musial's one-man wreckage of Dodger pitching this year.

He'll first point that Stan was the big gun in the Cards' 14-1 blasting of the Dodgers yesterday which shot them into the league lead by a half game over the Brooks. In that game, Musial completed a batting cycle—a single, double, triple and home run. He also batted in four runs.

But the fan won't stop there. He'll show you where Musial has been the ringleader in nearly all of the nine games the Cards have won from Brooklyn this year. He'll recount from painful memory the 24 hits in 53 times at bat that Musial has collected against Dodger pitching, which adds up to a .543 batting mark. At Ebbets field, his average is a cool .533.

As far as he's concerned, Musial is the most awesome figure in baseball when he strides to the plate.

ALL BUT ONE

Every regular except Catcher Joe Garagiola hit safely yesterday as the Cards collected 16 hits against Don Newcombe, Paul Minner and Carl Erskine. Newcombe failed to retire a man as the Cards ganged up on him and his successor for four runs in the first inning. In the meantime Howie Pollet breezed to his 13th victory.

The New York Yankees rallied gamely to come from behind and defeat the Detroit Tigers, 6-3, in 11 innings. As a result Cleveland's 7-5 and 5-2 sweep of a doubleheader from Washington cut only a half game from the Yankees' margin which is now four games.

The Yankees tied the score at 2-2 in the top of the ninth when Johnny Lindell homered off Hal Newhouser. Then in the bottom half, a fine throw by Outfielder Hank Bauer cut Johnny Lipon down at the plate in a close decision.

Three singles and a triple by Bauer featured a four-run 11th. Joe DiMaggio, Yogi Berra and Charlie Silvera cracked the singles.

The third place Boston Red Sox dropped eight and a half lengths off the pace, dividing a doubleheader with the St. Louis Browns. The Browns eked out a 9-8 victory in the opener. Jack Kramer gained his first victory of the year as the Red Sox won the second, 8-4.

The Philadelphia Athletics swept a twin bill from the Chicago White Sox, 7-2 and 6-4 for their fourth and fifth victories in their last 17 games. Joe Coleman and Charlie Shantz were the winners.

WINS ON RALLIES

Pittsburgh came from behind twice to sweep a doubleheader from the Boston Braves, 4-3 and 7-6. The Pirates spotted the Braves a 3-0 lead in the first inning of the opener, but caught up with Johnny Sain in the fourth and beat him in the seventh. Dino Restelli's first hit in 14 times at bat scored Johnny Hopp with the winning run.

The Cincinnati Reds took a doubleheader from the Philadelphia Phils, 10-1 and 4-3. A single by Dixie Howell pushed over the Reds' winning run in the ninth of the nightcap. Grady Hatton led a 13-hit Cincinnati assault in the opener with a single, two doubles and a triple.

The cellar shackled Chicago Cubs knocked off the New York Giants twice, 5-3 and 6-1 to put a fitting climax to the celebration of "Frankie Frisch Day" in the Polo Grounds.

Italy, France Meet In Zone Tennis Finals

PARIS — (AP) — Davis cup teams of Italy and France squared off in the final two singles matches today to decide the European zone tennis champion.

The Italians assumed a 2-1 advantage by winning the doubles yesterday and need only a split of the final tilts to qualify for the inter-zone finals.

Giani Cecelli and Marcello Del Bollo jolted the confident French, one-time powers of international net play, by defeating Marcel Bernard and Henri Bolelli, 3-6, 6-1, 4-6, 6-0, 6-2.

The decisive singles duels today send Bernard, the champion of France, against Cecelli and Robert Abdsselam of France against Del Bello. The French are favored.

The victor in this series qualifies to meet the American zone winner late in August for the right to challenge the United States for the trophy.

The American zone champion has yet to be determined. Australia, wartime holder of the cup, plays Mexico at Wilmington, Del., next week to decide this issue.

Outdoor Editor Makes Own News With Fish Story

HAYWARD, Wis. —(INS)—Cal Johnson, veteran muskie fisherman and outdoor editor, thought it was time for a fish story—and caught a record one.

Johnson said he was trolling about 300 feet from shore on Wisconsin's Couderay Lake when a five-foot, 67-½ pound Muskallunge grabbed his hook.

The sportsman battled with the record sized fighting fish for an hour before landing him.

Johnson's prize outweighs the former world's record holder by three pounds. That was taken May 17, 1947, by Al Hauser in Savable Lake near Lac De Flambeau, Wis.

Harbert, Hamilton Smash To Win In Toledo Meet

By FRITZ HOWELL

TOLEDO—(AP)—Fifteen professionals headed for St. Paul, Minnesota, and the Western Open today and an amateur took off for St. Johns, N. B., to defend his title in the Canadian Amateur—the aftermath of the 12th Inverness Invitational in which Chick Harbert, Detroit, Mich., and Bob Hamilton, Landover, Md., walked off with the bulk of the swag.

Harbert and Hamilton, long shots when the tournament opened, spread eagled the field from Thursday through Sunday, losing but one match to windup with a rating of plus 19. This was 14 points ahead of their nearest opponents, Clayton Heafner, Charlotte, N. C., and Skip Alexander, Lexington, N. C.

The plus 19 score gave them top money of $4,000 which with the additional awards for the most birdies, 58, and for tying for best round of the tourney, an 11 under par 60, gave them a total of $4,450 to split. They were within one stroke of the record plus figure made by Jimmy Demaret and Ben Hogan last year and their 14 point advantage over second place represented a new mark in that respect.

Yesterday morning's match in which they won over Heafner and Alexander by a three up score just about clinched the title. In the afternoon they trailed the last place team of Freddy Haas, New Orleans, La., and Dave Douglas, Newark, Del., until the 14th hole. There they squared the match and then raced home with a two up victory.

Heafner and Alexander, after having second place threatened when they lost in the morning, put the clamps on E. J. (Dutch) Harrison and Jim Turnesa in the afternoon, winning by a plus three score to safeguard the $2,000 which went to the runnerup.

Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and Dick Metz, Arkansas Sity, Ark., took $1,800 third money by managing a one up win over Jimmy Demaret and amateur Frank Stranahan in the afternoon. Demaret, cowinner with Hogan last year and Stranahan had made a terrific bid after a poor start, and settled for fourth place by finishing even for the entire route.

FAVORITES WIN ONE

Lloyd Mangrum, Chicago, and Johnny Palmer, Baden, N. C., dropped into fifth place when they lost a one down decision to Middlecoff and Ferrier in the finale. It was the only win in the tournament for the latter team which opened the event last Thursday as the red hot favorites for the title. Instead they finished seventh with minus seven, one stroke away from Harrison and Turnesa.

Mangrum and Palmer, and Hamilton and Harbert, "birdied" the 6,558-yard Inverness course during the tournament, beating par on every hole along the seven-match route.

The field scored 344 birdies and seven eagles. With eagles counting as two birdies, the output excelled last year's tourney record by two. The Hamilton-Harbert birdie total of 58 was six over the previous record of 52 compiled last year by Hogan and Demaret.

Stranahan, first amateur to get into the all-star play, was a substitute for Hogan, who was injured last winter in an auto accident. Stranahan's share of the purse goes to Hogan—and Stranahan now gets back to amateur golf by heading north to defend his Canadian title.

Teams	Score	Prize	Birdies
Hamilton-Harbert	Plus 19	$4,450	58
Heafner-Alexander	Plus 5	$2,200	49
Snead-Metz	Plus 3	$1,800	39
Demaret-Stranahan	Even	$1,400	48
Mangrum-Palmer	Minus 1	$1,450	50
Harrison-Turnesa	Minus 6	$1,200	41
Middlecoff-Ferrier	Minus 7	$1,100	42
Haas-Douglas	Minus 13	$1,000	31

Cleveland Brownies Head For BG Camp; 52 Players Vie For Spots On '49 Team

By HOWARD BABCOCK

CLEVELAND — (INS) — While the Cleveland Indians battle to retain their baseball crown, the sixth city's other champions, the Browns, took off for Bowling Green today to begin preparations for the defense of their All-America football conference title.

Head Coach Paul Brown, his assistants and 52 players are scheduled to invade the summer training camp, with the first drills to start tomorrow.

Before leaving Cleveland, Brown predicted that his boys are going to have a harder time this year in copping the AAC title, which the Browns have held every year since the conference was organized in 1946.

"Seriously, I believe we are about to enter our toughest season," the former Ohio State mentor said. "There will be more pressure on us this year and every team will be out to pin our ears back."

By the added pressure, Brown was referring to the fact that his boys won 15 straight games last year, including the championship playoff contest.

"Nearly all of our opponents have made improvements at their weakest spots," the Cleveland coach warned. "The Chicago Hornets and New York Yankees has been strengthened by players who were with the now defunct Brooklyn Dodgers, and the San Francisco 49ers, Los Angeles Dons and Buffalo Bills also have been bolstered in places."

Twenty-seven of the 52 players who will report are returning from last season, while 16 of the 28 are beginning their fourth year with the Brownies, and many of those are not certain of making the grade this season, with a promising crop of rookies in camp.

Only at quarterback, center and fullback is the personnel settled in advance. As usual, Otto Graham will do the first string signal calling and little Cliff Lewis will be his only replacement.

At the fullback spot, Marion Motley, Tony Adamle and Ed Sustersic will have competition only from Jack Shankle, of Grove City college.

Frank Gatski, Lou Saban and Tommy Thompson will hold down the center spot of Brown's successful T-formation. Dwight Follin of Kent State will be the only other center vieing for a position on the Browns' roster, but his chances are slim considering the competition.

The offensive end positions once again will be held down by Dante Lavelli and Mac Speedie, probably the two best pass catchers in the AAC. George Young and John Yonakor, defense ends, also are fairly certain of retaining their jobs.

MIRACLE MAN

Coach Brown, who has performed miracles with every team he has coached from Massillon high school on up, has announced that he will carry six ends, six tackles, five guards, three centers, two quarterbacks, seven halfbacks and three fullbacks.

For the two end spots which are open there will be 10 candidates. Ten also will be in the running at tackle, eight at guard and 14 at halfback.

Of the 25 newcomers to the Brownies' fold, six are from Ohio colleges. They are: Tackle John Schrieber of Findlay college; Guard Dave Templeton and Halfback Mike Cannavino of Ohio State; Halfback Warren Lahr of Western Reserve; Halfback James Dougherty of Cincinnati, and Follin, the center from Kent State.

Riley Falls In 20-Inning Heartbreaker In VFW Meet

Hurling in the state Veterans of Foreign Wars tournament here Saturday, Riley stood up like an iron man. He fanned 38 batters in a 20-inning marathon against Columbus Civic Center, an average of nearly two strikeouts an inning. But Fostoria lost the game, 1 to 0—on an infield error.

Civic Center lost to Sabina, 2 to 0, in the finals yesterday. Sabina is to represent Ohio in the National VFW tournament starting Aug. 29 at Austin, Tex.

Sabina had beaten Shelby, 8-2 in the semi-finals. Shelby eliminated Ashland 7-0 Saturday night after Ashland took out Parma 5-2 in the afternoon. Shelby won its first game from Elyria, 2-0. Cuyahoga Falls defeated Shelby in the consolation finals last night, 13 to 3.

New London 9 Wins 3-1 Tilt

NEW LONDON — The New London Merchants took advantage of three unearned runs to turn back West Salem, 3-1, in a low-hit game here last night. The host team got only three bingles and the visitors two.

New London sewed up the game in the last of the second inning when a balk scored one run and Pitcher Nate Osborn wild-pitched another home.

Jungle Warfare Gets Hot

Huks Flee To Manila To Escape Battle

MANILA. — (INS) — Filipino police officials are convinced that scores of Huk guerillas, attempting to flee from hard hitting government forces in Central Luzon, are infiltrating into Manila.

The new wave of infiltrations is caused primarily by a major military campaign in which nearly 3,000 crack government troops have been hurled into bitter fighting against the insurgents in Central Luzon.

At least, this is the belief of Colonel Eduardo Quintos, Manila police chief, who said he is prohibited by law from arresting "peaceful" Hukbalahaps living in the Philipine National Capital.

He told International News service:

"At present, we know the location of most communists and Huks in Manila. But there is no law that says we can apprehend them for holding membership in the Huk movement.

"There are many Huks in Manila. I call them ex-Hukbalahaps because they do not disturb peace and order although many are sent to the city to gain information."

Actually, the Huk spy system is so well organized in Manila that some observers claim its destruction would be impossible under the present Philippine legal code.

Quintos indicated that even government officials are not free of suspicion. A police officer was recently arrested when his membership in the Hukbalahap movement was discovered.

As a result, Quintos said careful screening of all policemen and officers have been undertaken. He added:

"We are screening our policemen in order to detect Huks or Huk sympathizers who act as spies. So far, however, we have found none."

Quintos asserted that it is impossible to estimate the Huk population in Manila or make similar estimates of Communists.

Aside from this, he said Manila police are currently working with constabulary authorities, whose military courts are used to try Hukbalahaps arrested by police for violating "peace and order" in Manila.

Today's Garden Graph

Broccoli Is Easy To Grow

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Many home gardeners are afraid to attempt to grow broccoli, yet the green sprouting kind is not a problem vegetable. In fact, it is the easiest of its family to grow and, incidentally, the richest in vitamins. It is so vitamin-rich, that one serving garden-fresh gives you four-fifths of all the vitamin A you normally need for a day, two-thirds of the required amount of vitamin C, and good amounts of riboflavin, calcium, phosphorus and iron.

Broccoli will withstand light frost, and under good growing conditions you can expect to cut at least 20 green heads from each 20 feet of row.

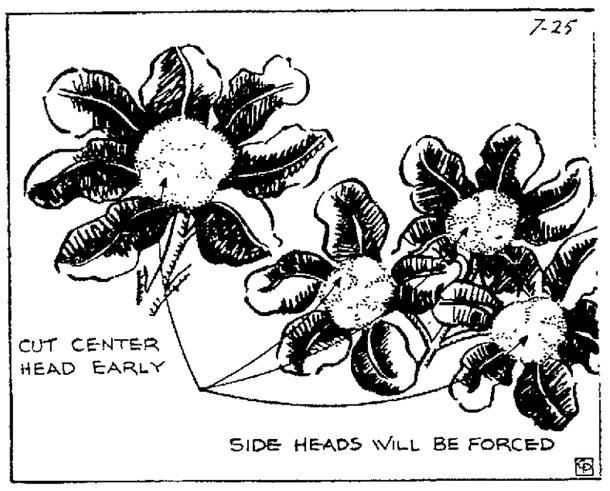
It has the good habit of producing succulent green heads on side branches after the center heads are cut, as shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. These side heads are also fine in flavor.

Green sprouting broccoli needs fairly rich soil and plenty of nitrogen. Its cultivation is simple. Keep watch for aphids which can be controlled with a spray or dust of nicotine sulphate. Be on the alert, too, for cabbage worms. These can be controlled with a dusting of rotenone.

As the heads of broccoli begin to develop a feeding of fertilizer will help to force them to more rapid growth.

The Italian green sprouting variety known as Calabrese is the best heading kind. The heads are compact, firm and excellent for freezing.

The earliest good broccoli is known as De Cicco. It is ready to eat a week or 10 days ahead of Italian green sprouting.



New Yorkers Plan Monkey Hunt Party

UTICA, N. Y. — (INS) — Oneida County deputy sheriffs are going monkey hunting and they are not going to the jungles to do it.

Sheriff William R. Williams of Utica is mobilizing his men for the hunt, which will take them to the northern section of the county.

Discovery that monkeys are on the loose in this Central New York area was made by Deputy Sheriff Lee Northrup while driving his patrol car over a little used road near the Baron Steuben monument a few miles from the Villiage of Remsen.

He said a monkey ran across the road in front of his car and h had to slam on the brake to avoid hitting it.

Inquirty revealed that a cage full of monkeys escaped four years ago from the Mapledale Hotel, six miles from where the deputy sighted the animal and had never been recaptured.

ALL IN KNOWING HOW

SAN FRANCISCO —(UP)— A Berkeley, Cal., fire chief learned recently what to do if a swarm of wild bees decided to settle in your living room. An alleged bee expert said the bees were wild and he couldn't do a thing about them. Then a bug exterminator mowed them down by shooting sulphur down the fireplace chimney.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3 The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

3,000 Bicycles Registered, City Runs Out of New Tags

Sign-Up On Saturday Postponed

Register Next On August 6

Mansfield youngsters aren't feeling the so-called deflation or disinflation as much as their elders are according to police bicycle registration records.

When tags were ordered for the registrations which began last September officials compared Mansfield to cities of like size and ordered 3,000 of the small yellow and black plates.

"This was 500 more than we thought we would need for some time," Police Identification Officer Palu Martin said. "But Mansfield youngsters have more bicycles than anyone had estimated."

At Saturday's registration period the last of the 3,000 tags went to 12-year-old Margaret Gettins, 850 South Home road.

New tags were ordered some time ago when the supply was getting low Martin said, but they won't be delivered until sometime next week.

Registrations for next Saturday have been called off to make sure the tags are ready. The police department will resume taking registrations at 9 a. m. Aug. 6. There will be no registration period if it rains Martin said.

Bicycle owners were warned also that when a bicycle is sold or transfered in any way the owner must send his salmon colored registration card to the police department. The license tag will stay on the bicycle but the new owner must register it within five days of his taking posession.

WINGS FAIL—Swiss birdman Rudolph Boehlen flaps his bat wings as he prepares for the take-off in a Swiss Air office demonstration. The daredevil leaped from a plane at 3,000 meters, but the wings failed to support him. The "Batman" completed his air-to ground trip by means of parachute.

'Doldrums' Hit Steel

CLEVELAND — (AP) — The steel market returned to the "doldrums" right after the threat of an imminent steelworkers' strike collapsed last week, Steel magazine said today.

The magazine said buyers, some of whom had upped requests for mill shipments, held a conservative course in ordering, after it was seen there would be no work stoppage for 60 days. That is the length of time President Truman's fact-finding panel will probe the wage issue in the industry before making recommendations.

Steel was optimistic of increased buying by some consumers who at this time "have permitted stocks to fall below the safety point."

Such users, it said, are expected to return more actively to the market because they plan substantial boosts in manufacturing schedules. The magazine listed among them some household appliance firms that have cut operations in past months.

Consumer hopes for a general steel price reduction, steel asserted, may be dashed if steelworkers win a pay hike. It might also put on the market "considerable tonnage" which has been withheld pending determination of the steel price trend, it added.

Win Ashland Parade Prizes

ASHLAND — Gene Sidle, 15, Joan Yeagle, 8, Bruce Moffett 7, Larry Somerlade, 9 and Sandra Black, 5, were winners of prizes in the pet parade sponsored by the city school summer recreation program Friday.

Prizes were awarded the winners at the conclusion of the parade at Brookside park. About 100 children participated in the parade, representing all the city summer playgrounds.

Loudonville Puts Cancer Drive Over

LOUDONVILLE — Herbert Welsh, chairman of the Loudonville Cancer Drive has announced that this vicinity has contributed $777 34

The county unit will have a tent at the Ashland county fair in September showing free movies and distributing free cancer control literature Loudonville's $777.34 sent the Ashland county fund well over the goal of $2 000 as $2,284.67 was contributed.

More Cases Filed

BUCYRUS — Court Clerk Joe Royer reported today an increase in new cases filed in Crawford county in June. A total of 41 Common Pleas court cases were filed last month compared with 35 in May. For the first six months of this year, 193 cases have been filed of which 72 are divorce actions.

22 Will Go On Yearly Canoe Trip

YMCA Group To Visit Canada

Seventeen boys and five men will leave Mansfield early Wednesday morning on the YMCA annual Canadian Canoe trip.

They will meet at the Y at 7 p. m. Tuesday to pack their equipment in the five cars that will carry them to Lake Temagami, 300 miles north of Toronto. The drivers will pick up the canoer's at their homes at 3:30 a. m. Wednesday, Maurice Taylor, general secretary announced

Robert Y. Davis and Roy Miles will be in charge of the group making the trip. Two boys and their dads will remain at the base camp at Lake Temagami to fish, swim, canoe and sail. The remaining 15 boys and three men will make a seven day 125 mile canoe trip through Canadian lakes and streams.

The entire group will return to Mansfield Aug. 8, after a sight-seeing tour in Toronto, Ontario and Niagara Falls, N. U.

The fourth group of YMCA boys to attend camp this year left Sunday for Camp Nelson Dodd—the camp for Ohio and West Virginia members of the Y. The 14 boys will be at Camp Dodd until next Sunday.

Bob Schmidt, Y youth work director, is to be back at work today after attending the YMCA training school in Silver Bay, N. Y.

Red Cross Helps

Son Flies To Side of Sick Mother

Mrs. Carl Baker was reported in good condition yesterday at General hospital, after she had undergone a major operation And a contributing factor to her convalescence may well have been the fact that her son is at her side.

A week ago today the son, Pfc. Albert M. Baker was in Stuttgart, Germany, on maneuvers. His mother had taken ill several days previously and the family notified the Richland County Chapter of the Red Cross.

Word was sent to military authorities in Germany that he was wanted at home.

Information had been started through Red Cross channels here and relayed through the national organization to US military officials in Germany. They received the word on Thursday, pulled Pfc. Baker off maneuvers on Saturday and put him aboard a plane Sunday July 10 at 8 a. m.

He arrived in the army plane at Westover Field, Mass., at 11 p. m. Monday but because of bad weather conditions, the plane was forced to fly to Utica, N. Y. for landing. It spent the night there but had to return to Westover field because that is an army base and passengers had to debark from there. Even with the delay, Pfc. Baker reached Mansfield at 2 p. m. Tuesday and rushed to the home of his parents.

Because of his hurried trip, Pfc. Baker was unable to obtain money before leaving Germany. However, the Red Cross chapter here came through with a "loan" and the Mansfield soldier is able to finance himself while on a 30 day special furlough. He is a re-enlisted service man.

Brave Child Recovering From Mishap

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Tommy Morrison, a brave little four-year-old from Statesville, N. C., greets the sun these days from a wheel chair on the terrace at Children's hospital.

He is completely wrapped in bandages from neck to toes and one arm is gone from above the albow. He still has a long way to go but his doctors predict that with his courage and sense of humor he'll make it.

Tommy's trouble started last Halloween. He grabbed the candle from a jack-o-lantern. It ignited a play grass skirt he was wearing over his sister's Martha Washington costume.

Seventy per cent of his body was burned severely. Gas gangrene cost him his left arm. He battled his way through a siege of pneumonia.

Last March his doctors decided he was strong enough to move. His parents borrowed a private plane and flew him to Washington.

Skin grafts from donors, especially from his two older sisters, Patricia, 12, and Barbara, 10, took hold and now he needs new skin on only 50 to 60 per cent of his body, doctors said.

Overseas Memorials To Hold Names of Missing Americans

ROME —(AP)— The names of 80,000 American soldiers, sailors and airmen missing in World War II will be recorded in memorials in 14 cemeteries scattered over the world.

This was disclosed by Brig. Gen. Robert G. Woodside, a veteran of the Spanish-American War and vice chairman of the American Battle Monuments commission (ABMC), an independent office established by congress in 1923 to care for the graves of American soldiers.

With the advice of ABMC, the War department decided recently there will be 14 permanent cemeteries in the different oprational theaters of World War II. The 115,000 soldier graves will be divided in cemeteries of about the same size.

Five of these cemeteries will be in France, two each in Italy and Belgium, and one each in Holland, Luxembourg, England, Tunisia and the Philippines.

General Woodside said all Warld War II cemeteries will be of the same design "with a peristyle of white columns, a non denominational chapel and a memorial where the names of 80,000 Americans reported missing will be engraved."

U. S. Army General Thomas North of ABMC said the first contract for 22,500 headstones was signed July 1, in Rome. He added that after nearly five years the dead are to have permanent graves in Anzio and Florence. The delay, he explained, was due in part to the fact the families had until Dec. 30, 1951 to say whether they wanted the bodies brought back to the United States.

Today Marks Opening of 100th Annual Knox County Fair

Mt. Vernon Affair Ends On Saturday

Dedicate Grange Building Friday

MT. VERNON — Knox county will celebrate the 100th anniversary of the first county fair when the 1949 exposition opens Monday and runs through Saturday night.

This 1949 fair promises to be one of the best—if not the best—of the many which have been held here during the past century.

Highlighting the agriculture side of the fair will be the largest Junior Fair even planned. Several hundred boys and girls will show their prize livestock while many others will exhibit dresses, baked goods, etc.

Ready to house some of the 4-H and FFA livestock will be the new $13,000 all-steel building which is being financed by the 25 granges of Knox county.

This building will be dedicated at 10:30 a. m. Friday when former Gov. Myers Y. Cooper, for many years honorary president of the Ohio Fair Managers association, will be present.

Als scheduled to visit the fair the same day is Mayor James A. Rhodes of Columbus.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche has accepted an invitation to be a guest of the fair board Thursday afternoon. A tour of the grounds is being planned for Ohio's chief executive.

RACING OFFERED

A. W. Marion, state director of agriculture, will attend the fair Thursday while Robert Jones, manager of the Ohio State junior fair, will be present Wednesday.

Co - featured with the Junior Fair is the four-day harness racing program which opens Wednesday afternoon and continues through Saturday afternoon. More than $10,000 will be distributed in purses over week. Earl Dangler, superintendent of speed, expects more than 200 horses to be stabled on the grounds.

Nothing special has been planned for the centennial exposition. Aim of the 19-member fair board is to give the folks of this agricultural county a plain, modern fair.

Due to the lack of buildings to house livestock and mercantile exhibits, nearly 50 tents will be erected on the grounds. This gives the 30-acre fair grounds the appearance of a tent city.

Night intertainment in front of the grandstand will feature the Knox county 4-H Saddle club—one of the few such clubs in Ohio—the opening night.

Some 50 young boys and girls will put their horses and ponies through a two-hour show in front of the grandstand Monday night. It will be the third straight year for the exhibition of outstanding horsemanship on the part of the young riders.

A horse-pulling contest sponsored by the Buckeye Horse Puller's association will bring the fair to a close Saturday night.

Other fairs this week:

Fayette county at Washington C. H., Tuesday through Saturday; Lawrence county at Ironton, Wednesday through Friday; and Monroe county at Woodsfield, today through Thursday.

Union Envoy To Visit At Galion Plant

Light, Power Work Issue Faces Check

GALION — A representative of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Union (AFL) will be in Galion this week to discuss disputed city ordinance effecting working conditions and supervision at the Municipal Light and Power plant.

Last week Walter Williams, acting chief engineer at the plant, told city officials he was "through" acting in a supervisory position.

At the same time City Auditor Gloyd A. Frye informed him the new ordinance which was passed on July 5 and returned unsigned to council last Tuesday by Mayor H. H. Hartmann did not provide for payment of a supervisory position. City Solicitor George H. Davies has advised council to clarify the ordinance by repeal and passage of a new ordinance.

City light plant employes say that, even though the new ordinance has been interpreted to mean that it repeals a previous ordinance which governed city employes in many departments and failed to provide for a chief engineer at the light plant, there never has been a provision for a chief engineer and that the ordinance only repealed sections of the previous ordinance affecting light plant employes.

The light plant employes also have accused Williams of mismanagement and improper treatment of employes.

Truman Asks $1,450,000,000 Arms Assistance For Europe

er one nation after another, have observed the civil war in Greece and the soviet blockade of Berlin and have watched the pressures of Iran and Turkey.

As a result of their experience with soviet communism, Mr. Truman said, "they realize that they must have a shield against aggression to shelter their political institutions and the rebirth of their own economic and social life."

That shield, the president went on, does not yet exist in the United Nations. And again he blamed Russia for this situation.

"So long as the danger of aggression exists," he said, "it is necessary to think in terms of the forces required to prevent it.

"Helping free nations to acquire the means of defending themselves," Mr. Truman continued, "is an obligation of the leadership we have assumed in world affairs."

He argued further that the preparation of military means "for keeping the peace is necessary not only to the security of the United States but also to build a safe and prosperous world society."

The state department, referring to the western European members of the new North Atlantic Treaty put it in these words: "their defense is our defense."

Mr. Truman told congress he did not want to spell out the arms to be given each country. He asked instead for general authority to provide arms and war materials for Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg (which together form the Western European union), Norway, Denmark, Italy, Greece, Turkey, Iran, Korea, and the Philippines.

In addition, he said, the United States should help Canda and the other American republics in strengthening their defenses. But here, he said, it should be on a cash and carry basis with the American government assisting them only by making available its facilities "to procure defense equipment for them at their own expense."

The president said the eight European countries already have undertaken to spend annually on their military establishments sums equivalent to $5,500,000,000. He said that is the maximum load they can carry without disrupting their economic recovery. But that, he insisted, is not "enough to furnish these nations the protection they need."

TYPES OF AID

The president said:

"I recommend that we supply these countries with assistance of three types:

"First, a limited amount of dollar aid to enable them to increase their own production of military items without impairing their efforts for economic recovery;

"Second, the direct transfer of certain essential items of military equipment, and

"Third, the assistance of experts in the production and use of military equipment and the training of personnel.

"Such a program will enable these countries to acquire the elements necessary to their defense without hampering their recovery," Mr. Truman said.

Speed Water Plant Work In Bucyrus

Plan Its Operation By First of Year

BUCYRUS — Steady progress on construction of Bucyrus' new $463,000 water filtration and softening plant was reported today by Roy Riley, city waterworks superintendent.

Ground was broken for the three - story brick and concrete structure last August and the plant is expected to be in 100 per cent operation before Jan. 1.

Roy Durwecter, construction superintendent, said today every effort will be made to have the plant virtually completed sometime in November but it will be several additional weeks' before the project is in complete operation. The building is being constructed by the Richland Construction company of Mansfield.

When the plant is completed, the capacity of the filtration plant will be increased from 2,000,000 gallion daily to about 4,000,000 gallons.

The plant's completion also will provide "soft" water for Bucyrus for the first time in the city's history. The new plant will replace a building and equipment, which have been in use since 1883. City officials said the old building probably would be partially dismantled and converted in a storage area for city-owned vehicles and machinery.

Headache or Headache Reliever?

Grass Seen As Answer To Farm Problem

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Grass may mean nothing but a headache to the homeowner who has to spend a hot weekend trimming his lawn.

But it promises — so its greatest friends say — to ease taxpaying headaches for that same homeowner, and to free the farmer from some of the headaches arising from crop surpluses and depressed prices.

Stated in another way, the public is going to hear more and more as time goes by about grass being a better cure for the problem of fluctuating farm production, prices and income, than government production control programs and price-supporting subsidies. Subsidies, of course, require taxes.

And the next few years — years in which farmers will need to cut production of many crops from abnormal war and postwar levels — may give the proponents of grass a chance to prove their theory.

Grass is more than a long-leafed plant used to cover lawns. It is food — in a raw form. Processed through livestock farming, it comes out as meat, milk and dairy products.

But it can do even more. It can offer a method of producing food at a slower rate and smaller volume than has been the case since the war started.

With surpluses of wheat, corn and other grains staring farmers in the face, they need to slow up in the process and volume of production. Reluctance to drop the war time rate of production is bringing on surpluses, with their companion headaches of declining farm prices and income and the demand for government price supports and subsidies.

In the years ahead, farmers are likely to hear more and more advice like this:

"Put fewer acres into grains and other cash crops, including cotton, soybeans and peanuts and put more into grass and pasture."

"If you'll do this, you can make as much money — perhaps more — and work not nearly as hard. There will be fewer surpluses and less need for government price support aid and other subsidies."

Of course grass means livestock — beef cattle, dairy cows, sheep and lambs.

But wouldn't more grass mean more livestock and possible surpluses and depressed prices for these farm products?

The believer in grass replies with an emphatic "no."

He explains it this way:

It would take more acres of grass to fatten a cow or to produce a given quantity of milk than it would take in acres planted to grains.

Many soil conservationists held the theory that if every acre of farmland were used to its best possible advantage from the conservation standpoint farm output in this country would just about balance between production of crops and livestock on the one hand and normal market demands on the other.

The first big step in converting to grass may be taken by wheat farmers in 1950. They've been told by the government they should plant 14,000,000 fewer acres to wheat for harvest next year than was seeded for this year's CROP. The reason — declining foreign markets for the grain.

What should farmers do with this 14,000,000 acres? Secretary of Agriculture Brannan says they should be put to grass to produce more meat and milk.

Bell metal usually is a mixture of copper and tin in the proportion of about four to one.

OK Fund For Bridge

Expenditures of $10,000 for reconstruction of the Hesselden road bridge, just south of Hickory lane, have been authorized by the county commissioners.

The plans call for replacing of the steel superstructure and for repairs to the abutments and wingwalls. The work will be paid for out of auto license and gasoline tax funds.

The county highway department will do the work on the abutments and a contract will be let for supplying and puiting up the steel superstructure.

Work will begin following completion of the Union street bridge in Butler.

Amputate Leg of 'Coma' Girl

SALEM, O. — (AP) — Seven-year-old Donna Marie Saunders is showing a "slight improvement" following the amputation of her left leg. She has been in a coma since Feb. 9.

On that date she suffered a fractured skull and two compound fractures of the left leg, above and below the knee, when she was hit by a coal truck.

The lower fracture healed normally, but physicians were unable to halt an infection in the upper fracture. The operation, performed at City hospital, removed the leg at a point five or six inches above the knee.

Shaw Grows Younger As Years Go By

AYOT ST. LAWRENCE, England — (UP) — Friends of George Bernard Shaw, who will be 93 tomorrow, said today the famous playwright is getting younger every year.

They said the old man looked better today then he did at 90. Even his doctor, who visited him a few days ago, marvelled at the clarity and sparkle of his aged eyes and his general health.

Shaw pretends that he pays little attention to his condition, but he actually takes exceedingly good care of himself. Only a year or so ago, he felt ill and announced to friends that he was going to die. He made such an astonishing recovery that he is in better shape now than he has been since he was as young as 85.

He stays up as late as possible nights — sometimes after 1 a. m. His housekeeper-nurse, Mrs. Alice Leden has to scold him about this practice.

$260 Damage Claim Allowed

Lettie Arter has been allowed a $260 claim by the county commissioners for compensation and damages connected with improvements ordered made on the Paramore creek ditch tributary.

Arter had asked $400 for land taken and for damages to fences and property.

Commissioners authorized transfer of $150 from jail maintenance fund to the sheriff's stationery and supplies fund.

Rank-Happy Russians 'Lose' United Nations Leadership

LAKE SUCCESS — (AP) — Soviet representation at the United Nations stands today at its lowest rank since the U. N. was formed four years ago.

It does not mean the Russians are pulling out of the U. N. Heart trouble caused this temporary loss of rank by the Soviet delegation here.

The acting chief delegate is Semyon K. Tsarapkin, who is a minister.

He took over July 15 when Jakob A. Malik, Soviet deputy foreign minister and ambassador to the U. N., sailed for home to rest from illness. Malik suffers a bad heart dating from his service as wartime ambassador to Tokyo and he has been out of U. N. meetings since mid-June.

The Russians set great store by protocol. For months they have ranked everyone at the U. N. by having their regular delegate serve as a deputy foreign minister.

That custom started late in 1946. Andrei A. Gromyko, who left his post as ambassador to the United States to become ambassador to the U. N. and delegate on the Security council, was promoted to deputy minister for foreign affairs as a reward for his work in the 1946 assembly.

As deputy foreign minister, he was a step above other big five delegates on the protocol ladder. The other top delegates, ranked as ambassadors, apparently took no notice that they were one rung below Gromyko and the only time the difference in position played any part, as far as the public could see, was when the title was printed on invitations and official lists. The rank of plain minister is another rung below ambassador on the protocol ladder.

Malik had been made a deputy foreign minister six months before Gromyko. He came here in May 1948 to replace Gromyko who went home for a long-delayed vacation in the Caucasus.

Malik suffered a sudden illness last spring when Gromyko was appointed first deputy to Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky. He later took part in the General assembly here, serving as first assistant to Gromyko, the man he once ranked.

Your gasoline dollar

buys one of the world's great values
...and saves you 10¢ a gallon today

10¢

Gasoline Prices
1921 PRICE (NO GASOLINE TAX THEN) 29¢
1949 PRICE (EXCLUDING STATE GAS TAXES) 19¢
YOU SAVE (ON SOHIO X-70 GASOLINE) 10¢

IF YOU THINK in terms of prices after World War I compared with after World War II, you are saving 10c every time you put a gallon of Sohio X-70 gasoline in your car.

And, if you are an average car owner, this will amount to a saving of $60 in a year!

What a great value today's Sohio X-70 gasoline is, too. It is many times better than the 1921 kind, better than the 1940 kind—in fact, the best regular gasoline money has ever bought.

It comes to you cheaper because the oil industry, in spite of higher crude prices at the well, has been constantly making economies in processing, in service and in transportation. A large part of the company's profits have been put to work buying equipment that benefits its customers.

So, as long as you are saving a dime at Sohio, why not put that dime away? Try putting a dime in a bank for every gallon of gas you buy —and think of us as you do it. Your Sohio dealer will be glad to give you a bank like the one pictured next time you drive in for gasoline.

Sorry!

MOST OF THE DIME BANKS ARE GONE

A week ago Sohio offered free Dime Banks to keep your gasoline savings in. Most of our service stations were out of them in a few days. However, it's a good idea to keep on saving the dimes you save today when you buy SOHIO X-70.

Efficient Work By Firemen

THE FACTS speak for themselves in the fire which for a time this morning threatened an entire downtown city block between Third and Fourth, and Main and Diamond streets. Flames ware already shooting high when the Mansfield fire department was summoned at around 5 a. m. Less than an hour later the blaze was under control and although great quantities of smoke continued to roll skyward there was no longer any severe menace to the buildings outside the immediate fire area.

Damage was serious, of course, from fire, water, and smoke, A number of business places have suffered heavy financial loss.

But Mansfielders have been clearly shown, in the way this blaze was contained and brought under control, that the city has fire-fighting men and equipment of a high order. The fire department deserves commendation.

County Must Have Detention Home

ONE THING SURE, now that more people are showing an interest in the subject of a Richland county juvenile detention home, something will be done about it.

As long as the Salvation Army went along year after year providing quarters and supervision for detained juveniles, one board of county commissioners after another followed the easy course of delaying action.

Notification was given well in advance of last January 1 that the Salvation Army could no longer provide detention facilities—as that had been no more than a temporary arrangement in the first place.

But still nothing was done about it by county commissioners, despite urgent pleas by Probate-Juvenile Judge Cramer, and since the first of this year the county and city jails have been the only places for detention of juvenile offenders, which is not only contrary to law but strongly opposed by public sentiment as well.

Now the Richland County Bar association, through its public buildings committee, is offering co-operation in working out some plan by which suitable quarters can be provided for juveniles whose detention is required under court orders—and something will be done soon by county commissioners . . . because it MUST be done.

U. S. Workers Reject Communism

THE United Automobile Workers, in its recent convention, adopted a resolution urging the Congress of Industrial Organizations to revoke the charters of unions led by communists, on the ground that they are not fulfilling their obligation to their members.

This is an expression of the idea. held by most people, that the interests of communists go in one direction and the interests of Americans, including workers, go in another. It is a wonder that the members of groups still dominated by communists have not themselves made that discovery.

Shanghai Frowns On 'Foreigners'

IT IS REPORTED that at least two or three hundred foreigners in Shanghai, who had at first expected to stay there and go about their accustomed business under communist rule, have now informed their consulates they wish to be evacuated.

It is indicated that communist authorities are deliberately making life unpleasant for Westerners in China's largest city. There is fear that the case of a United States consular employe who was beaten and jailed over a traffic incident is an example of what foreigners may expect.

If it is true that the communists seek to drive foreigners out of Shanghai, in which case they doubtless would want them out of other cities and areas as well, then they are making a tragically stupid blunder, not only for their own tenuous position but for the immediate future of all China. Such effort as China had made in the last few decades to climb out of the morass of backwardness was done largely by Western inspiration and with Western help and guidance.

If a communist regime in China should close the gates of that land against the West, the Chinese could then turn their faces only toward Russia, whence they would get little help, and less inspiration beyond the impractical prattlings of communist doctrine.

According to Pathfinder magazine: "The first world war saved the world for democracy and now the victors of the second world war are trying to save democracy for the world."

Dimwittedness is the main cause of traffic accidents, says a survey. Unfortunately normal people often lose their lives in accidents that stupidity causes.

Frankly Speaking

Tensions But No Splits

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — President Truman last week said that "tensions and conflicts appear to be increasing" within the circle of Russia's control.

There are some tensions and conflicts in eastern Europe, and here are three examples of them:

1. The Catholic church has thrown a time-bomb into communists' ranks by excommunicating any Catholic who helps them. This bomb will cause damage for years.

2. Marshal Tito, busy communising Yugoslavia, has been having a cat-and-dog fight with the Russian leaders and the communists of the other European countries under Russia's thumb.

3. American government experts on Russia point out that the communists or eastern Europe are having economic troubles. For example:

The communist world wants to build up its industries as fast as it can but still lacks many tools it would like to get from this country and western Europe. So it would like to increase trade between east and west.

But —

These same American experts brush aside any notion that there is tension or conflict — in the sense of a split or quarrel — among the dozen top communists who run Russia and direct communist world strategy.

Those 12 men, headed by Josef Stalin are members of the politburo They're the rulers of Russia. And this is what the American experts have to say about them:

First of all, the Americas' information isn't good enough to say precisely what happens inside the politburo. But they have no information on politburo splits.

* * *

Have Full-Time Jobs.

THEY may disagree among themselves on what strategy to use in any given situation but, once a decision is made, they all go along with it. Take the case of Vyacheslav Molotov.

He's a politburo member, and has been for years. And he's an old - time shoulder - to - shoulder comrade of Stalin. Also, for years, Molotov was Russia's foreign minister.

Some months ago he was relieved of the foreign minister's job. But he remained in the politburo. Some people may have thought he had fallen out of favor and was going down-hill.

But —other members of the politburo who had important government jobs were relieved of them, one by one, since the war ended. Why?

To enable them, the American experts say, to devote full time to their politburo jobs.

As members of the politburo it's their job to do the top policy-making for Russia and direct the strategy of world communism. They have their hands full, doing that.

The members of the politburo, in addition to Stalin and Molotov, are:

Andrei Andreev, expert in agriculture; Lavrenti Beria, who used to be head of the secret police; Mikolai Bulganin, who was chairman of the state bank of Moscow and helped plan Moscow's defense in the war; Lazar Kaganovich, who ran Russia's railroads in the war; Alexei Kosygin, expert in light industry; Nikita Khrushchev, head of the Ukrainian republic; Georgi Malenkov, one of Stalin's right-hand men; Anasta Mikoyan, expert in foreign trade; Nikolai Shvernik, chairman of the Supreme Soviet, closest Russian job to that of the U. S. president; and Klimenti Boroshilov, marshal of the army and a revolutionary hero.

About Belief In Ghosts

By ELSIE ROBINSON

SHE'S been going to a medium. And "has seen the most miraculous things." So she wants to know if I believe in ghosts.

I don't know, sister. I have lived too long and seen too many mysteries to say that I do or don't believe in anything which is beyond my limited comprehension.

Have I seen evidence which some would call ghostly? Of course I have.

I have heard a peacock call, harsh and clear, from the patio of an old deserted Spanish house. Yet when I went to look, there was no peacock, nor even a flurry of wings. Only a bronze-green feather that, on second sight, dissolved into bronze-green earth.

When I had no thought of him, I have seen a dead boy swinging toward me down a familiar trial, his blue trousers flapping around his swift ankles, his face aflame with eager love.

Was that a ghost? Or was it the wishful vision of a broken heart? I do not know. Nor will I permit my imperfect human mind to think that it can come to a definite, scientific conclusion on such matters.

Our mortal spirit is an eerie thing. One does not need to look beyond the gave for unanswerable mysteries. They are here around us every day, every hour.

What makes us conscious of another person's entry into a room although we have not seen his presence or heard a sound? What makes us instantly feel the evil in one human and the good in another? What is thought, anyway? How do the glands influence emotion? Is it chemistry or is it God? The greatest scientists cannot tell.

We know each body cell is an electrical arrangement. Are we actually electrical sending and receiving stations? Could we go on after the body is broken as electricity goes on after the bulb is smashed?

Is that what a ghost might be? I do not know, nor do you.

But this I do know. It is dangerous for most of us to dwell too much on what still seems to be the supernatural. There may be no supernatural. It may all be an extension of life in different forms functioning on different levels. We cannot tell.

But for the present, it's healthy not to try to find out or to have any truck with those who claim to have found out. For it inevitably unhinges the average brain — which isn't too well screwed down anyway. And unfits us for our normal daily duties.

As Cerf Tells It

Robert Considine, columnist and co-author of Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo, was cruising in a friend's brand - new convertible one morning about ten when he discovered that the car was equipped with a telephone.

He couldn't resist calling his wife, Mildred. That good lady was awakened from a sound sleep to hear an operator drone, "There is a mobile call for you." "I don't know anybody in Mobile," said Mrs. C firmly, and hung up.

The operator rang her again, however, and she heard her husband say, "What hath God wrought?" "Come home," answered Mrs. Considine. "You're drunk."

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Probe of White House Repairs Advised

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Of corse, I don't like to write anything about General "Happy Harry" Vaughan which might cause the President to call me an S. O. B. again.

Nevertheless, I do think that the Senate expenditures committee, now investigating the so-called "five per-centers" should take a careful look at something which is going on right under the president's own nose — namely, the repairing of his official abode, the White House.

Since this official abode is one which we all help to support and of which we are all proud, it would seem proper for the Senate to investigate how a friend of Gen. Harry Vaughan's and of his lobbying sidekick, Col. James V. Hunt, should have been appointed to repair the White House —at a time when Hunt was trying to get a commission in connection with White House repair.

Gen. Edgerton has been a fine Army officer, and well qualified. But so also were Generals Alden Waitt and Herman Feldman, who were suspended from the Army because they gave lobbyist James V. Hunt information on Army contracts that the press and public couldn't get.

Offically, it is explained that General Edgerton was appointed by the White House repair commission, including Senators McKellar of Tennessee, Martin of Pennsylvania, with representatives Rabaut of Michigan and Keefe of Wisconsin.

However, there are all sorts of ways to skin a cat in Washington and a Senate committee, looking beneath the surface, might unearth some interesting facts.

* * *

Decorating Interior.

IT WOULD discover, for instance, that Lobbyist Hunt has a client, Miss Dorothy Draper, who is an interior decorator desirous of getting a contract to redecorate the White House. If she gets the job, she pays a commission to Vaughan's friend Hunt. No wonder Hunt wanted a friend in charge of White House repairs.

The Senate would also discover that Gen. Edgerton, the man now in charge of White House repairs, admits —as he did to this column—that both General Vaughan and Lobbyist Hunt are his friends. He also admitted that he knew about Miss Draper, the decorator.

It would also discover that both Vaughan and Hunt pulled wires on an earlier occasion to get General Edgerton appointed to the key spot of War Assets Administrator. This is the job which had control over selling surplus war material and was for a long time a gravy source for Lobbyists.

Vaughan and friend Hunt failed to get Gen. Edgerton appointed to this bonanza-dispensing job, but they did have another key man inside the war assets administration—non other than one of Vaughan's and the President's old cronies from Battery D.

* * *

Inside War Assets.

THEIR friend is Joe Major, who, incidentally, flew in the President's private airplane with Harry Vaughan and Harry Truman down to the battery's 35th reunion in Little Rock, Ark., last month.

Joe Major, when queried, was quite frank in admitting that he receives telephone calls all the time from Harry Vaughan.

Major denied that Vaughan was pressing him, but admitted that the calls came to him while in his office and while in charge of getting rid of surplus government property.

Major estimated he had received about 500 phone calls from Vaughan, and in addition visited Vaughan about once a week at his home.

Major was also quite frank in admitting that lobbyist Hunt had asked him to use his influence to get Gen. Edgerton appointed to the top job of dispensing surplus property.

Joe Major also knows John Maragon well. In fact, he refers to him as John.

"I accepted John because he was a friend of Harry's," Major explained.

* * *

Ex-Kansas City Bootblack.

THAT raises another interesting chapter which the Senate could probe with profit—namely, the war assets lobbying of Vaughan's friend Maragon, the ex-Kansas City bootblack, ex-federal narcotics agent, who poses as the great friend of both Truman and Vaughan and seemed to prove it by accompanying them to the Potsdam conference along with Stalin and Churchill.

It would be important for the public to know just how much backing Maragon got from the President's military aide in his wirepulling with war assets to get some of Uncle Sam's low-priced surplus property.

Maragon is the man who lobbied for the David Bennett Perfumery company and entertained both Harry Truman and Harry Vaughan on the company's yacht. Through the reported intervention of Gen. Vaughan, Lobbist Hunt temporarily took over the Bennett company's lobbying work, though Maragon still continues with Bennett.

It would be highly interesting, however, if the Senate should investigate just how Maragon was able to take special trips to Europe immediately after the war on perfume business, at a time when few Americans were permitted in former war theaters.

Cartel Promoters Active

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON — The German cartelists, now represented here personally, and their American big business allies finally have wormed their way under the tent in the United States Senate.

Through a "rider" attached to the pending ECA appropriation bill by the Senate appropriations committee, they hope to exploit the Economic Co-operation Administration, which administers the Marshall Plan, to preserve and restore the great industrial and financial monopolies in Germany. Their specious grounds are European recovery, saving the American taxpayer, and protecting German workers.

This "sleeper" in the ECA bill provides that "the list of limited and prohibitive industries scheduled for destruction in, or removal from, Germany shall be reviewed and the administrator of the Economic Co-operation Administration shall seek to obtain the retention in Germany of such plants on this list as would best serve European recovery if left in Germany."

There are now 159 plants which, under a downward revision of the original Potsdam reparations agreement list at the recent Paris conference of foreign ministers, are on the list to be destroyed or dismantled and removed to nations participating in reparations.

The object of the rider is to compel Paul Hoffman, ECA administrator, to retain in Germany plants that this government has pledged, along with its allied, to destroy because of their potential for war by a revived Germany.

This pledge is in keeping with our war aim to break up the cartel system that fastened itself on Europe and helped to promote the Second World war.

Both Mr. Hoffman and Secretary of State Acheson are very much embarrassed by this little conspiracy. It would endanger the whole European recovery venture as it would antagonize our western European allies.

Their struggle to revive and survive economically would be seriously impeded by a new German industrial giant that would flood Europe with goods in competition with them, not to mention their fear of a revived military Germany, which again might pounce on them as in the First and Second World wars.

* * *

Clever Manipulation.

THE EVENTUAL aim of this conspiracy, which is really an old conspiracy that ramified into much of the European economy, is to restore the old cartel system.

Immediately the objective is to retain steel plants on the "limited list" that were to be removed and to save plants on the prohibitive list that were to be destroyed because of their direct war potential.

In particular just now they would save certain synthetic oil plants in the old I. G. Farbenindustrie cartel using the so-called Fischer - Throup process for hydrozenation of coal, which the appropriations committee mentions specifically in its report.

Ultimately, the idea would be to broaden the scope to include other industries formerly in cartel agreements. Retention steel plants would increase the steel production potential. Steel production in Germany now is limited to 11,500,000 tons annually.

How this "rider" got into the appropriation bill is an intriguing story.

It brings in V. L. S. Loesch, managing director of the Deustche Edelstahl steel combine in Germany, who came to Washington on his mission for the steel interests. He interested Senator George W. Malone (R., Nev.) who arranged conferences for the German visitor with Under Secretary of State James E. Webb, Mr. Hoffman, and William C. Foster, ECA deputy administrator. Senator Malone enlisted Senator Pat McCarran (D., Nev.) who got the rider in the appropriation bill.

Mr. Hoffman and his aides now are working feverishly to have it defeated in the Senate, where the bill is expected to be taken up late this week.

Any further modification of the plant destruction and removal program would be resented particularly by the British who agreed only very reluctantly at the recent Paris conference to the downward revision of plants to be included.

I see where the President is reported against giving the atomic bomb to England, I think he's right. I hope we not only keep it from others but that ultimately we can file it and forget it ourselves.

The British government today can be trusted with any secrets we have. But England is a sort of pushover for leftist trends, and suppose some new boys should take over and hold Kremlin Joe even closer while waltzing?

Causes of Pain In Arms

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

SCIATICA is a general term for pain in the lower part of the back which passes down the back of the leg along the line followde by the great sciatic nerve. Similar pain in the arm is known as brachialgia. Just as with sciatica, it has many possible causes.

For example, arthritis, or inflammation of the joints in the upper part of the spine may produce a narrowing of the opening through which the nerves from the spine pass into the arm because of excessive bone formation around these openings.

The resulting pressure on the nerves brings about pain which is sometimes severe. Stretching of the spine by using a system of weights and pulleys may sometimes bring relief.

Intense Pain.

Bone tumors will also cause intense pain in the arm because of pressure on nerves. X-ray examination usually will reveal when this type of disorder is present.

Heart disease also may be responsible for pain in the arm. This pain is uaually made worse by exercise of any kind and is relieved by rest and the giving of nitroglycerine.

X-ray examination is necessary for a definite diagnosis. Operation is rarely necessary in these cases. However, if wearing a brace and stretching the spine does not relieve the disorder, the operation must be carried out.

Various Causes.

Virus infections may sometimes attack the nerves of the arms. Known as neurotrophic infections, they may produce severe pain of long duration.

Treatment consists of the administration of the vitamin B-complex. The new antibiotic, aureomycin has also been tried in a few cases but, as yet, not enough reports are available to draw a conclusion.

Another cause of pain in the arm is what is known as scalenus anticus syndrome, a condition in which there is pressure of the scalenus muscle in the neck on underlying nerves and blood vessels. Recently it is believed that this condition does not occur very often. Its treatment requires an operation .

Tumors of the spinal cord itself may be responsible for arm-pain. In these cases, also, careful X-ray study is needed to make a diagnosis. Treatment is operative in such cases.

Soviet Military Mobilization Expected

By J. C. OESTREICHER

FULL-SCALE Soviet military mobilization in eastern Europe is regarded as a virtual certainty in the wake of ratification of the North Atlantic Defense Pact by the United States Senate.

The scope and speed of this seemingly inevitable move doubtless will depend upon congressional action with regard to the rearmament of western Europe, which all continental nations confidently expect will come as a result of the Senate vote.

If President Truman's plans to appropriate more than a billion dollars for European rearmament go through as scheduled, the now peaceful nations of Europe will be able to erect a tremendous and mobile bulwark of defense.

The inclusion of Italy, against the advice of some participants, extends the present sphere of the pact from the Arctic Ocean almost to the shores of northern Africa.

There is every probability that the treaty, if it proves a workable deterrent to communism, will be extended. Its text makes clear that the framers had in mind a covenant that would bind together in solemn agreement all nations of the western world which sincerely desire peace and are determined to resist aggression.

The storms of protest raised by the Soviet propaganda bureau against the pact obviously are a prelude to more decisive action.

From the beginning, the Kremlin has assailed the pact as an instrument of aggressive warfare.

The crescendo of this theme must rise as actual rearmament begins. The more eastern Europe is pictured as being imperilled, the more incumbent it will become upon Russia to make good her role as "protector" by adding troops and fortifications to any of the areas in the path of allegedly contemplated allied attack.

There are no shortages of Russian soldiers in eastern Germany and in the Soviet Union, to be sure.

Many historians have held to the axiom that if two gigantic military establishments remain facing each other for a sufficient length of time, one gun is bound to go off and after that comes the fusillade.

This is the viewpoint that has been taken by circles opposing the pact not on financial grounds but upon the risks of war that it might entail.

The overwhelming vote in the Senate shows that this, however, is the minority view and that the North Atlantic Treaty, as written, just gives the plain and simple guarantee that any aggressor simply will be stopped in his tracks.

It is a vast undertaking. Its repercussions and ramifications will be felt for years to come.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, July 26
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

THE auguries are auspicious for important activities new interests and commitments and changes of farreaching significance. And while the mind is alert and keen, yet an astute and shrewd evaluation of undercurrent conditions or problems may be prompted by inner urges, intuition, or "hunches"; the feelings and emotions being under high stimuli. Finesse rather than force might be used in making changes or new alliances. Ideals have especial value, with creative genius in line for expression.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, have promise of particularly interesting and challenging activities in which a keen mental outlook is sustained or driven by inner urges, hidden factors, or beneath - the - surface promptings. Change, new affiliations in public realtions as well as private understandings should flourish, mainly because of strong intuitions, hunches or an accented force of compelling creative talents or subtle inspiration.

A child born on this day has splendid equipment for a successful career, probably in exceptional lines. Its mental and spiritual faculties urging toward unusual occupations or exploiting novel ideas.
